The patients at this place are twenty-three a stump to fis er in the 10t sun. And this is not the only case; but why write of such revolting sceres? It is the tho Beechers, the Greeleys, the Philipses, and so for h, may come of the property of the common o and and here to from the grave of hoverty, arime, disease, and degradation the thousands of negroes who are at the mercy of every time.

The sick are provided with every luxury, and complaints are seidom, if ever, made. Dr. lloses the Medical Director of the Pos, makes it his positives to inquire into alt the details of the hospitul, from the effico and ward to the bospitul, from the effico and ward to the details of the hospitul. An important feature the hospital, from the effice and ward to the culinary defautment. An important feature of the hospital generatment is an order issued by the post commandant, General Van Cleve, at the request of the Medical Director, allowing convalers to be quartered on the farms of the surrounding country. This has a double advantage, the most important of which is the hevefit received by the soldier; pure and wholesome food, plenty of fresh air, freedom and exercise, being, for the time, a second nature. As fast as these men recover their beeiths they are forwarded to their com msr ds, and their places filled by other in-

During the recent cold weather, Dr. Moses, with his usual foresight and thoughtfulness for the comfort of the sick and wounded, had all the ice-houses in the post blied to their utmost capacity with a gond quality of ice. No fear need be entertained as to the comfort of who may he in hospital et this post tho

HOSPITAL GABDEN. This is another of the Medical Director's plans. The garden is situated adjacent to the city, and is worked by convalescents alone. The tilling of the ground is now being performed by them. It is intended to raise all kinds of vegetables, so that the boys articipate with delight plenty of polators, cabbaze, drulps, etc. etc. The Sanitary Commission (a noble institution by the way) furnish sal the seed and tlants. This Commission, on-der control of Rev. Wm. Kennedy, nave ren-dered uvaluate aid to Dr. Moses in his en-neavors to refer to the wants of the wounded and supply them with every comfort.

A NOBLE ORDER. It was formerly the practice that soldiers who were so severely wounded in battle as to be unfit for service were discharged at the nearest medical post, and then left to provide for themselves after tuat. They had to say their own railread fare and, if an arm or leg was amputated, they had to furnish oneat heir own expense, or remain dismembared This occasioned anxious lears and griefs to the gallant beroes who foll in defence of their gallant heroes who fold in defence of their country, and well might they feel chagrined and mortified that the government had not more humanely provided for them. At the argent request of Dr. Moses, a special order was issued and signed for the Army of the Camberland by the Surgeon-General of the United States, by which discharged, to the nearest military medical department of the Streefrom which they are isted, and there receive, at the expense of the government, all the care and which they are lated, and there receive, at the expense of the government, elt the care and consort which their heroic achievements have so well carned. Transportation is furnished them; they are clothed and fed, and artificial arms, 1893, and eyes, as the case may be, provided. This is just and nummen. Our government, especially, should not forget the poor privates. They are its soil and substance, and are those who receive the deadly fire of the entry, and hear brayely and patients.

emy, and hear bravely and patiently hious and sufferings of war. WITERE HAS MISS FLORA M FLIMSEY GONE? That extravegant piece of nature'e workmen-tip, known in artistocratic circles as Miss for McFlinsey, who keeps her healquarters in Paris, a depot in New York, and numerous way etations all over the country, had once her representatives and devotees in Mur-freeshoro. Humanity -1 mean that portion of it wrought into those idolized angels called women—held up Miss Flora as the paragon of feshion. Her every graceful move, the smiles that played upon her ruby lips, the sweet glances of her roguish oyes, the wave of her snowy haud, the style in which her raven tresses was interwoven, her latest honner, her new silk dress, the manner in which she sat at church in her pew, the way she received unmarried male visitors, her manner of telling ladies and gentlemen (of course by proxy) that she was "out a calling" when they came "a calling"—all these little things, and a thousand others, were diligently studied and gracefully practised by the belles of Murfrees boro before the advent of the Yan-kee invader. Curran, the celebrated Irish wit and orator, used to practise jestienlation and the art of smiling pretty in looking-glasses, but the ladies of this city saw in Miss McFlimsey the most transperent object in existence, and one in whom all the arts that please and deceive were wonderfully developed. Flora's personnel is interestiag. [The word "personnel" is a sort of Norm in french and signifies not only the looks of a lady, her drese, etc., but her wardrobe, her reel estate and personnel (if she have any) ali little matters of the affection, and so on.
Miss McFlimsey (the Murfreesboro one mean) was born of wealthy parents, with a golden "sauff dipper" in her mouth (sauff dipping Indies will appreciate this) and, so to speak, wes reaced in the lap of luxnry. Hr ette and war lrobe were faultless, the po ish on her pearly teeth as snow, the artificial curls as graceful as frozen sausugs (nanghty expression, isn't it), the pattern of the lich silk enshrouding her voluptuous nature Parislan, her gaiters (No. 2) would have eent in ecstesies a Chinese mandariu, in fact, her whole contour—I don't know what this word from one to two bnadred right smart' of cotton ginned and unginned. Her personal effects consisted of about fifty or one hundred daguerreotypes of discarded and played on heaux, a number of valuable rings, once the property of some fallen Eve, nulike Cassar's wife, and features of honest Abe's pretty face. She re-tired to her virtuous couch when New Zeeland ladies 00—you know when we are going to bed they are getting up, and vice versa—and never saw the torenoon's sun. All nightlong she pleyed npon the piano—or that more delicately organized instrument, a young man's heart—easig, wallzed, pelked, swooned, fainted, and tassed of white, as bees do of honey. This original Miss McFilmsey had a keen perception as to whether Madam Fashion withed woman's checks to be as the lify or the rose. Peint therefore, was one of the luveries that nt, therefore, was one of the luxuries that bonse of McFlimsiy were never without-ir lose of supplies in this respect was inexhave sail that Flora had her devotees in Murireetboro—in days gone by. The thing is changed now. The statue set up by this excellent and model young light has been ruthlessly swept away by the desciousing merch of Mura, and femile contritance, as numerous as the sauds upon the seshore, have listicated a new goldess in the shore of Poverty. Sho is to be seen at every street corner and in every by way. She, teo, has her votarles in Paris and New York. But they attract no atspeaks of in Lalla Rookh. One of two things has hipper d, thet's certain; and it is also certain that Dirak loils in those shary groves, and slumbers in the richly curtained houdsir "nuth is stronger than fixtion!" The woman-y weal heard heauty of Middle Tennessie was once centred in this city. This was the early bdis that drank in, with intoxicated de-icht, the youth in blood and varity of the deed. To do snything that waen't hishionato see the golden letters and not take off their lennets and bow, met with the same fate that the morster Ges'er inflicted upon the frave Swiss who would not kneel to the gollan in ege be had set ny—death at the hands no bad and let ue from the grave of loverty, crime, disease, and digradation the thorsails of negroes who are at the mercy of every view. They have labiled long and earnestly as robbers in stealing them from their massers, and now, in the hour of their affliction, why don't they lend a helying hand to their black brotheir and sisters. What a sad commentary is tho above upon the blasted hypoerisy, the thameless puttanthropy, and accursed teachings and practices of Northern abolitionists.

The sick are provided with every luxury, and complaints are seidem if over roads. Br er hs broken; the C. S. A. will die a traitor's death, and you can never play royal writ-ing slave to any other Southern queen. I know, by nature, you are too noble to act so base and abject a life as carry the trail of any Catherine of Russia or Bess of England. Look at it! How huminating! Nothing hat the wild in fatuation of desirious dreams—an overwhelming dose of folly—could make you think of so servile and degrading an occupa-tion. Steal away from the black tog of men-tal darkness that surrounds yon—bury the misty hopes that make you miserable—he not like assessits and rubbers, ashamed or afraid to let the light of heaven fall upon them—coure from out your hiding-places and look upon the starry emblem, under whose folds you had peace and pienty, and were the he-roic wamen you have praved yourselves to be sook upon it uutil the nohle spirits of Mrs. eslington, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Jefferson, end other great ann good women stand hefore you pleading for your agouized country—and then esk yourselves if your hearts have turned

On Thesday, the 26th nlimo, Hughes and Hamilton, with two hundred and eighty men, crossed the Comberland river with the design of surprising and capturing Glangow. Cant. Miles, a Union Home Guard officer, who was between Glesgow and the point where Hughes and his rubbers crossed the river, was advind brothers immediately secred to give inform tion of the intended rabel raid to Col. H mason, commanding the troops stationed at that point. When Miles got within five miles of town it became dark, and weary and much worn down with loss of sleen, and thinking the rebe's would not be on before the next uight, he ar l bis two broth is coocle led they would stop for the night. They did so, and steyed all night with a good Union man who lived near the road. We can't tell them. Heaven knows that our troops there had time eaough to fortify. The driving back of our forces in North Carolina, and the capture of Newbern hy the rebels, are deplerable events. Their iulluance cannot be otherwise than most unhappy. No doubt there has been and is more patriotism, mere Unionism in North Carolina than in any other State coneidered as belonging to the rebel Confederacy. Wherever our forces have made their way in that State, men, long oppressed and intimidated, have joyously come forward to swear allegiance to the old flag. A vast number of the people of Newbern have lying, as they were told they might do. upon federal protection.

The Frankfort Commonwealth of Friday contains the following article:

tatrikes us that Mr. Smith had "Hobson's choice" only. Mr. Colfax was formerly a trne and tried Whig, of the Henry Clay tribe, and is now a concernative Republican—the old leaven of Whig urinciples permeating and controlling his judgment. Mr. Cox is a Valuation of the training of the t controlling his jnagment. Mr. Cox is a Val-landigham Democrat; and the traitors of the South boast that he is their kind of man-opposed to tho rebels and insurgents being coerced, but not opposed to the insurgents and rehels butchering Union people, destroying their property, and overtnrning the Federal Government. They first nominated Vallan-Government. They first nominated Vallan-digham for Governor of Ohio; and Mr. Cox this confreress confirmed the nomination and endcavored to elect him. Tuat was the stalus of the two men.

Without outraging the sentiment of every ed, to vote for Mr. Colfax, though he know pany of apostatos. So walks off a stately pillar of conservatism. Yes, the Commonwealth, with its mammoth dimensions, its wide circulation, its miraculous industry, its towering intelligence, and its superhuman enterprise, has gone over to the radicals. This is a terrible blow to the Union party of Kenblow. And it is as unexpected as it is severe. It is adapted, if not designed, to strike everybody dumb with hewilderment; for who, that has observed the manliness and steadiness with which the Commonwealth has lately exposed the destructivo fallacies of the men in authority, heaping its columns with hold and s.irring and weary months, and expect to remain in the fervice until the great question at issue is could have been prepared for such a stroke? It has come like a clap of thunder in a clear sky. The blow is a severe one; but, if anything could mitigate its eeverity, we think the mitigation would be effected by the extraoidinary necuracy and the noble modesty

It could have been inspired only by what Vincentio calls "the truth of honor." But this is not all. "Mr. Cox," the Common-country, the Destructives and the Preserva-the treasury for the sum when the portrait wealth proceeds, "was the representative man of these who are for permi ting the government to be destroyed; who are for refusing to furnish additional men and money to suppress the rebellious insurrection." Mr. Cox is and has ever been in favor of furnishing men aud money to suppress the rebellion, as his Congressional record shows, and he was nominated and supported as a candidato for the speakership by men who hold the same position with himself, as is shown by their votes during the present session. Mr. Cox represented men who are in good faith for crushing the rebellion and restoring the Union under the Constitution. To this fact the records of Congress bear decisive testimony. Wo indeed have repeatedly established the fact at length in our columns. Here again the accuracy of the Commonwealth is suited to make one stare. One really cannot help staring at it. All things considered, it is truly amazing. But the modesty of the Commonwealth quite eclipses its accuracy. "Withcut ontraging," it exclaims "the sentiment of every true Union man in his Districtand we believe in the State-how could Mr. Smith do otherwise than vote for Mr. Colfax?" The Commonwealth, in confeesing its own apostasy, virtually expresses the opinion that every Kentuckian who is not a radical is not a true Union man but a rebel or a rebel Dympathizer. The Commonwealth particularly bestows this opinion npon the Kentncky Congressmen who voted against Mr. Colfax and

ATTEMPT TO MURDER.-We learn from Pe- the week ending Feb. 6, 1864: tershurg, Pike county, Indiana, that a man named Dannaway was shot and severely wounded on Wednesday evening last, in that town, by John E. Bowen, Editor of the Record, a newspaper published in that place, under the following circumstances: A discussion was going on between Bowen and Mr. Goodlet Morgan in reference to something that had been published in the Record, when Morgau appealed to Dunnaway to corroborate some statement he had made. Dunnaway replied that he never read the "filthy sheet," and had no use for it or its Editor, and intimated some opinion not very complimentary to Bowen, wherenpon the latter drew a Smith & Wesson pistol and fired three shots at Dunnaway, two taking effect in his thighs and one in his shoulder. Dunnaway then closed with Bowen, who beat him over the head with the pistol until he broke it to pieces, and, as is thought, fractured Dunnaway'e skull. Ther, freeing himself, he made his escape, and at last accounts he had not been arrested. | troit Advertiser that crime in that city is fear-His hat was found outside the house, with a | fully on the increase. The States should be kept out until the South answers like a face in a glass to the North in her ustitutions. We have bought the right to say so with a hecatomb of lives! Why does the I'resident relicquish it? It might have done when the Liberator was started in 1833, but it is a vio ation of a pledge in 1863, and there-fore (concluded Mr. Phillips) I say ve to the Amnesty Proclamation, and will to my dying

Mr. Garrison, in reply, referred to Mr. Phillips's recent remark in Music Hall, "that the Presiden's character was a sun so bright that we could not see the few spots up in its surface," and to-night this gentleman had spent an hour in blackening Mr. Lincola all ver, styling him a hypperite and ready to sacrifice the honor of the North to a sham peace. Mr. Garrison added:

Has not the President gone as fast and at far as the people would sustain him? [16No, no."] Mr. Lincoln has travelled as fast toward the negro as popular sentiment would warrant him in doing. Butler and Grant have sustained the President's policy. [Renewed cries of "No, no."

And what, said Mr. Garrison, about Fremont? Evests have occurred within a year greatly to diminish my faith in Fremont. Not a word have we heard from him in reference to the preclemation of amaesty. A glarious opportunity was there lost. Then we have had the arming of one hundred thousand blacks, and not one word of encouragement from Fremont. Mr. Phillips said-it is not fair to criticise
